

Prescription Drug Transition Worksheet

Use this worksheet for your own personal reference to make sure you're prepared to get your prescriptions. Fill out a separate worksheet for each medication.

My Medication Name: _____

My Prescription Number/Identifier: _____

Call your insurance carrier for answers to these questions:

- ? Is my medication on the formulary?
If not, how much will I have to pay?

Notes: _____

- ? What is my cost for a 30-day supply?
What is my cost for a 90-day supply?

Notes: _____

- ? Will I have to pay a penalty if I choose a brand name prescription drug if a generic is available?

Notes: _____

- ? Is my prescription drug considered preventive?

Notes: _____

- ? Will I have to go through a step therapy program (see right)? If so, what alternative will I have to try before my medication is covered?

Notes: _____

- ? Are there any quantity limits?

Notes: _____

- ? Is pre-authorization required? If so, what information will my doctor need to provide for my medication to be covered? Where can I find any forms that need to be completed?

Notes: _____

- ? How do I find an in-network pharmacy?

Notes: _____

- ? How do I set up mail-order prescriptions?

Notes: _____

What is a step therapy program?

If this applies to one of your medications, it means that you'll need to try using the most cost-effective version first—usually the generic. A more expensive version will only be covered if the first prescription drug isn't effective in treating your condition.

Did You Enroll in Bronze or Bronze Plus?

If you enrolled in Bronze or Bronze Plus, you'll pay the full cost of a drug's discounted rate until you meet the combined medical and prescription drug deductible. If you or a covered family member takes maintenance medications, you can take steps to protect your health and your wallet now.

For starters, keep taking and refilling your medication as directed (as always).

Then, if you or a covered family member takes a brand name drug, consider these ways to lower your costs:

Make sure your prescription is on your carrier's formulary.

A formulary is a list of generic and brand name drugs that are approved by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and are covered under your prescription drug plan.

Check with your carrier to make sure your drug is listed on the formulary before you fill it. If it isn't, you'll pay more.

Go generic.

Generic prescription drugs meet the same standards as brand name drugs, but they typically cost less. And, because brand name drugs can be expensive, some carriers don't cover them at all if a generic is available. Ask your doctor if a generic is available to you.

Use mail order.

Mail-order service can save you a trip to the pharmacy and may reduce your costs. To set up mail order with a new medical insurance carrier, you'll likely need a new 90-day prescription from your doctor. And, because mail order can take a few weeks to establish, it's a good idea to ask your doctor for a 30-day prescription to fill at a retail pharmacy in the meantime.
